What is Model Making? Model making is the act of producing real (ie. not virtual) 3D representations of buildings or objects. They are made to a scale, for example 1:100, which means the model is 100 times smaller than the original, though it could be 1:1, which is full size, or even larger, such as 8:1, where the model would be 8 times the size of the original. Materials used generally include plastics, timber and card.
